

Sodom and Gommorah; Lot's Daughters

Big Idea: The Bible doesn't shy away from relating the brokenness of humanity, all on display in chapters 18 and 19 of Genesis. The sad saga of Lot comes to its close. Lot is a man of weak faith and worldly compromise, but God is merciful. The cities of Sodom and Gommorah are judged for their wickedness, but God spares Lot.

I. Introduction

2 Timothy 3:16-17

Is all Scripture actually profitable? How so?

II. Abraham Intercedes for Sodom

Genesis 18:22-30

Is God right and fair? How is this a very practical and personal question?

What is the significance of this "righteous remnant" found here and elsewhere in Scripture?

III. Conclusion of the Story of Lot

Genesis 19

How, even amidst God's judgement, is God's mercy evident?

What can we learn from Lot's wife?

Genesis 19:26
Luke 17:22-37

How is the story of Lot and his daughters similar to Abram and Sarai?

Genesis 19:30-38
Genesis 16:1-2

Compare Abraham and Lot.

IV. Conclusion

Can God salvage anything out of our brokenness? How so?

Isaiah 45:2
